

ON THE BEACH

Sun shimmering

On the crystal, clear, calm waters.

Rippling wavelets

Gently swishing over the shingle beach.

The sound of the water

As it hits the pebbles like a melody

Small shoals of glittering, silver fish

Darting and diving for crumbs we have thrown.

Lights glistening on the calm clear waters

Scintillating, like a myriad of

Bright stars in the vast heaven.

A true place of tranquillity

Heather Waissen